Grandmother Gray. Faded and fair, in her old armchair, Sunset gilding her thin white hair,

Silently knitting sits Grandmother Gray : While I on my elbows beside her lean, And tell what wonderful things I mean To have, and to do, if I can, some day ; You can talk so to Grandmother Graythe doesn't laugh nor send you away

I see, as I look from the window seat, A house there yonder, across the street, With a fine French roof and a frescoed hall; The deep bay windows are full of flowers. They've'a clock of bronze that chimes the hours, And a fountain-I hear it tinkle and fall When the doors are open : " I mean," I say,

"To live in a house like that some day."

" Money will buy it," says Grandmother Gray There's a low barouche, all green and gold, And a pair of horses as black as fet, I've seen drive by-and before I am old A turn-out like that I hope to get. ... How they prance and shine in their harness gay ! What fun 'twould be, if they ran away !"

"Money will buy them," says Grandmother Gray. * To-morrow, I know, a great ship sails Out of port, and across the sea; Oh! to feel in my face the ocean gales, And the salt waves dancing under me ! In the old, far lands of legend and lay

I long to roam-and I shall, some day." Money will do in " says Grandmother Gray. 'And when, like me, you are old," says she, And getting and going are done with, dear, What then, do you think will the one thing be You will wish and need, to content you here !"

Oh, when in my chair I have to stay. Love, you see, will content me," I say. "That, money won't buy," says Grandmother Gray. And, sure enough, if there's nothing worth All your care, when the years are past,

But love in heaven, and love on earth, Why not begin where you'll end at last? Begin to lay up treasure to-day. Treasure that nothing can take away, Bless the Lord !" says Grandmother Gray.

VARIETY.

A subscriber told us last week he would pay his subscription to-day, "as sure as he lived." If he does not come in, we will publish his obituary in our next.

Love like that of Damon and Pythias still MPORTERS, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL exists between friends, even in this degenerate age and this distracted country. An Indiana Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats Furnishing Goods, Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Siecs, Yankee Notions, &c., &c. man recently ran away with a friend's scolding

Somebody remarks that young ladies look upon a boy as a nuisance until he is past the age sixteen, when he generally doubles up in value each year, until, like a meerschaum pipe he is A little Boston girl, four years old, created a ripple by remarking to the teacher of her Sun-day-school class: "Our dog's dead. I bet the angels was seared when they saw him coming up the walk. He is awful cross to strangers." St. Liuis Republican: Why do not the mediums settle this Presidential business. It really seems as though the spirit of Washington and the rest of the Presidents might sit as a Returning Board and send up a message which would be a settler to somebody. People are never satisfied with things as they are. Give them one and they ask for two; give them two, and they wonder why you didn't give them three. They are like the boy who thought he could improve the Lord's Prayer by making it read: "Give us this day day our daily bread and butter, with a little cake and some apples for dessert.

The champion scholar has been discovered. Being asked to sign his initials to a document. he wanted to know what "nishuls" were. "Why, your name being George Gould, your want two G's." "Oh, I see," he said, and wrote "2 Gesse."

Man's Wants .- Give a man the necessaries of life and he wants the conveniences. Give him the conveniences and he craves the luxuries. Grant him the luxuries and he sighs for the elegancies. Let him have the elegancies and he yearns for the follies. Give him all together and he complains that he has been cheated both in price and quality of the articles.

One of the teachers in a Sunday-school was "stumped" badly Sunday afternoon. He was teaching the infant class, and, after explaining the lesson as well as he knew how, he threw open the question box, figuratively speaking, and told the children they might ask him any questions that suggested themselves. He was gratified by a seven year-old girl, who immediately piped out, "Whos's elected?" He couldn't Edward Everett Hale says that he has "within six months talked with a highly cultivated American woman who did not know the difference between a Sanator and a Representative in Congress." And he "went into a public school one day and asked a question about the Battle of Brandywine, and found that the class had never heard of it, and was only amused by the droll-

SPASMS BEFORE BRANDY .- The following anecdote was told of a very clever fellow who had been some-what frolicsome, but who had recently joined the Sons of Temperanec. After becoming a Son,' he went to Mobile on buisness, and was taken sick there. The Physician called on him, and after having examined him, pronounced him in a very dangerous position, and prescribed brandy. The sick man told him he could not take it. The doctor said he must, or he would have spasms. "Well," said the Son of Temperance, "I will try a few spasms first." He did not take the brandy, nor did he have the spasms, but went on his way rejoicing.

NEW YORK Tribune; The little daughter of a very wealthy New Yorker happened not long ago to hear her small schoolmates congratulating themselves and one another upon the regularity with which their fathers said grace at table. Her father did not say grace, and, oppressed by a sense of inferiority, the little one wept that even-ing and besought him to do it. He said he thought it was time be began, and asked a blessing with all proper feeling at breakfast next morning. A younger sister of his little homilist, young lady still in the nursery, who had not heard the previous conversation, looked up surprised; then her face cleared. "I know what you does it for, papa," said she; "it's tause you'se gettin' poor!"

BY A THOROUGH ENGW LEDGE OF the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocon, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may
